ABSTRACT

The 70 citations in the annotated bibliography represent a selective sampling of resources focusing exclusively on Hispanic women (Mexican Americans, Chicanas, and Puerto Ricans) in the United States. The items cited are generally topical, of wide interest, readily accessible, inexpensive, and current (some in-progress and forthcoming works are included). Literature, annotated bibliographies, research reports on a wide range of topics, and other materials are organized in four main categories: general, educational, cultural, and socio/political resources. Listings include title, author, publishing data, source, cost, and usually a one or two sentence annotation. In addition, a section of organizations and projects notes regional contact resources (in Colorado; California; Texas; Arizona; Washington, D.C.; and several northern states) which can provide information and assistance to individuals and groups concerned with issues relevant to Hispanic women. The title, address, telephone number, and contact person are given for each resource, along with a brief statement of its scope and focus. (Author/SB)

This bibliography is one in a series of RESOURCE ROUNDUPS published by the Women's Educational Equity Communications Network (WEECN). It represents a selective sampling of resources focusing exclusively on Hispanic women in America (Mexican American, Chicana, and Puertorriquena). With few exceptions we have selected items that are topical, of broad interest, current (including works forthcoming or in progress), readily accessible, and inexpensive. Among the resources included, are annotated bibliographies, literary works, and research reports on topics ranging from education and financial aid to health care and cultural awareness. In addition, we have listed some regional contact resources who can provide information and assistance to individuals and groups concerned about issues related to Hispanic women.

The ROUNDUP was compiled by Kendra R. Bonnett, WEECN Editor, and Gloria Edmonson, WEECN User Services Specialist. We would like to thank Sylvia Castillo of San Jose State for suggesting that we update our 1978 bibliography, HISPANIC WOMEN AND EDUCATION: ANNOTATED SELECTED REFERENCES AND RESOURCES. We are also grateful to Lilly Aguilar, Vice-President of Northwest Regional Consultants, for her contributions and for reviewing the the final copy. Special thanks are extended to Alicia Valladolid Cuarón, Education and Employment Consultant: Annie Hart, Department of Labor, Women's Bureau; Elda Esther Trevino, Department of Labor, Women's Bureau; and Carolyn Joyner, Women's Educational Equity Act Program, for reviewing the manuscript.

Finally, we wish to thank the individuals and organizations around the country who kindly suggested resources for inclusion in this bibliography. We hope this resource list will increase the circulation of existing works, spark further interest, and generate more research.

We invite you to let us know of other resources, organizations, and projects. For further information on WEECN services and publications, write WEECN or WEEAP, Department of Education, Donahoe Building, Room 1105, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20202. Single copies of this bibliography are available free by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
